East High Spirit

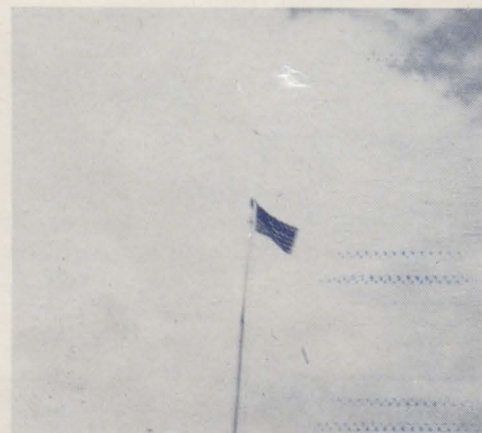

The East High Spirit is not narrow. It is not the property of any one group or clique to contract or expand as it pleases. It is the possession of every member of the student body, the faculty, and the alumni. From the senior class president to the lowliest 10B, from the principal to the custodians, in fact to everyone connected with the school in any way, shape, or form, the East High spirit is, indeed, a prized possession.

Any school can be strong when the going is easy, but the real test of its spirit is its ability to maintain that spirit in the face of adversity. East High is a strong school because its student body is always in there fighting to keep it that way. Their spirit is indomitable. Those who have seen the East High spirit in action know from experience that it is unconquerable. It is the responsibility of each and every one of you to see that this fine spirit does not perish.

We must always remember that our school spirit should not be limited to the gridiron or other athletic affairs. It should accompany all of us wherever we may be. Our school is judged by our conduct in private life as well as when we are attending classes or sports events.

Upon reading this article, you may get the opinion that we are trying to make you all sentimentalists. Well, maybe we are, in a sense. But when you stop to think about it, being proud of your school is certainly nothing to be ashamed of. We may jokingly refer to something in our daily school life in a somewhat satirical manner. It seems, though, that if any outsider makes a remark ridiculing our school, we instantly spring to the defense of the good name of East High.

It all adds up to something like this—we here at East High have a school spirit that is the envy of all. Let's keep it that way.

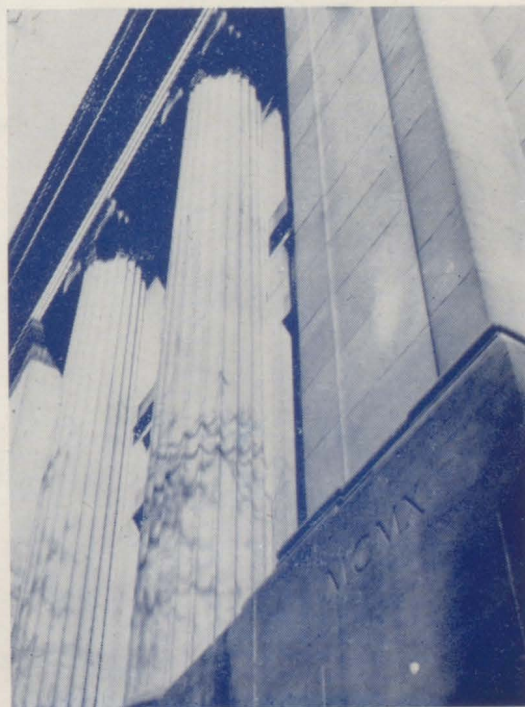

This is East High

This is East High school. A simple statement, that, but behind it stands a wealth of history and tradition which gives it a meaning beyond more eloquent words.

East High was founded in 1868 in the Bryant school building. Its first graduating class in 1871 consisted of one member, Miss Elizabeth Matthews. As the enrollment increased, the school was moved to the Webster building in 1877, and then to the old East High on the corner of East Twelfth Street and Court Avenue in 1891.

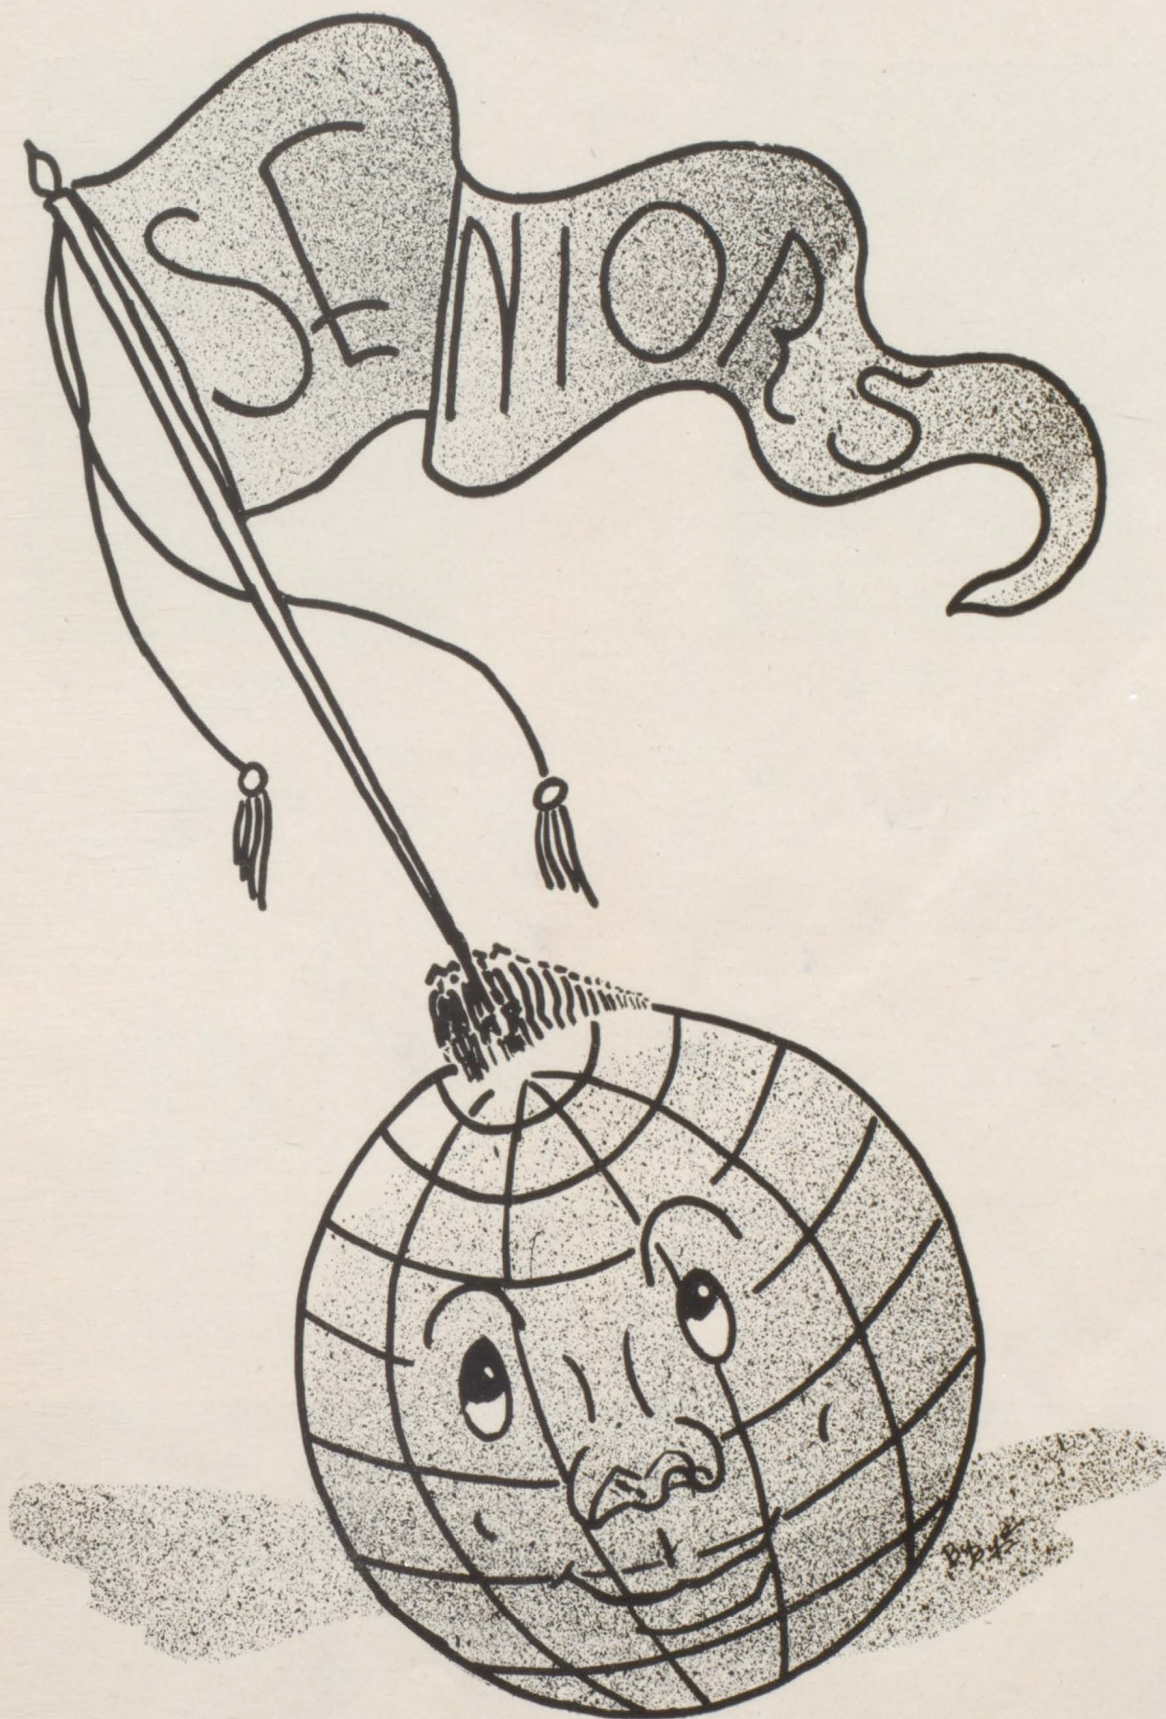

The present building was first conceived in the brain of Miss May Goodrell. After surviving numerous financial difficulties, that dream became a reality and Miss Goodrell laid the cornerstone January 18, 1911. When the building was erected, the students circulated a petition to secure bonds for new equipment, and finally moved all the equipment from the old East High to equip the new one. That famous moving day is still commemorated by our Anniversary Day assembly.

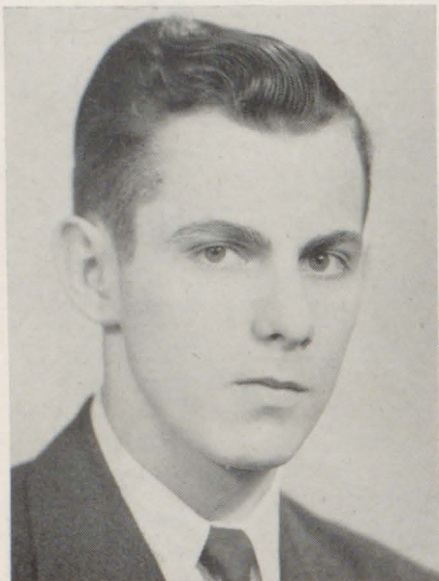

This beautiful campus has helped to inspire East High school students in years past and present. It has been and will continue to be an essential factor in fostering the East High spirit.

Class Prophecy

Rummaging through her mysto-futuramara shop the other day Madame Abra-Cadabra Rhumboogie came across a copy of Local Boy Makes Good magazine for the year 1955. Being of a curious nature we on the Quill staff anxiously pored over the contents in search of the fate of any members of the senior class of 1945.

Pictured on page one were Ralph Wallin and John Hedlund who had just made an astounding discovery in the field of synchronized ectoplasmic constituents, and were preparing to demonstrate their new theory in Barman's Hall of Science in Chicago. It seemed very fitting that the demonstration should take place in that great hall because it was Barman himself who first interested these two scientists in ectoplasmic work.

Turning to the women's page we notice that Helen M. Jones, prominent in the nursing world gave an address before the graduating nurses at Shackleford school of nursing.

The society section gives an account of the wedding of Lily Miller, star of the radio show "Theodora Figtwine, Girl Sandhog." Among the guests were; Betty Berggren, flaming haired society belle, Doris Kyar, betrothed of Semaphore Trestle the Railroad king, and Pat Johnson, of blue blood hill.

Also appearing on the society page is the advice to the love-lorn column of Bettelu Appell, and the Eat Your Way to Slimness articles of that famous dietitian Lucille Burgett.

Ah! here's an item telling how Con Hamborg the greatest lawyer of modern times won the case for Norman Bacon who was being sued for a million dollars damages by the famous opera star Bettrushka Barnoski. Miss Barnoski claimed that Bacon's nationally read gossip column "Bacon's Beacon" had ruined her career by calling her voice that of an over-age canary.

On the radio page we notice an account of the recent operation on Ethel Miller, latest female swoon-crooner on the Don Jones electrical hour of music. The doctor in charge, Ellis Monk, felt sure that removing her tonsils would have no effect on Miss Miller's voice.

The art page contains a reproduction of the portrait of Nicky Jurovich, popular matinee idol, painted by Miss Barbara Hadsall. The photographic reproduction was done by the W. M. Mellerup studios.

Having turned the last page of this fantastic magazine, we heaved a sigh and returned to the world of today.

Few of us realize the lasting effect of our high school teachers upon us. In this part of our life when many impressions of the world about us are made, we need the guidance of our zealous instructors. The faculty is largely responsible, by their everyday influence and association with us, for our thoughts and actions.

Our faculty is composed of men and women who have had wide experience in teaching. Besides being familiar with the subjects they teach, East High teachers have the success of the students at heart. A pupil who needs extra attention or help is sure to get thorough, patient, and sympathetic assistance.

Student Council

Have you ever wondered what was going on when you saw all those students filing into Room 111 at different times? Well, it was the Student Council assembling for one of its meetings, where, no doubt, many important issues were discussed.

The Student Council is, without doubt, the most important school organization, because its members represent the student body. With the aid of the Council advisor, Miss Agnes Helmreich, the Council has become a highly efficient organization. The duties of the Council are many and the responsibilities large.

The Council is behind all the really big activities that require student cooperation. At the beginning of the semester, the students from each home room elect the boy or girl who they feel has the best qualities for the task of representing that room in the Council. The Council itself is divided into various committees, consisting of a chairman and three or four members. Each committee covers a different phase of school life.

Clubs

Of all the extra-curricular opportunities which are offered at East High, perhaps one of the most important is that of joining the various clubs. Every student has the privilege of joining two clubs, a mixed club, and a boys' or girls' club. Each club is under the guidance of a teacher, who enjoys "getting together" informally with the students.

Since East High has a variety of clubs from which to choose, students usually join a club based on the subject that they are especially interested in. The clubs range from Sodalitas Romana, a club for Latin students, to the Chess Club, for boys who play chess.

Quill Staff

DON JONES
Editor-in-chief

BETTY BARNOSKI
Associate Editor

The staff that writes the Quill is selected from twelfth grade English students who have been recommended by the English instructors.

This year's small but mighty staff is headed by Don Jones, editor-in-chief, and Betty Barnoski, associate editor.

Working on the various divisions are Betty Barnoski, Don Jones, Norman Bacon, Seniors; Marilyn Woods, Lucille Livengood, Jim Arpy, "I Remember . . .," John Englund, Sports; Mary Hadden, Pat Motter, Organizations; Dorothy Filliman, Dorothy Thomas, Advertising.

Those working in the divisions must make up the dummies, plan for photographs, and write copy for these particular sections.

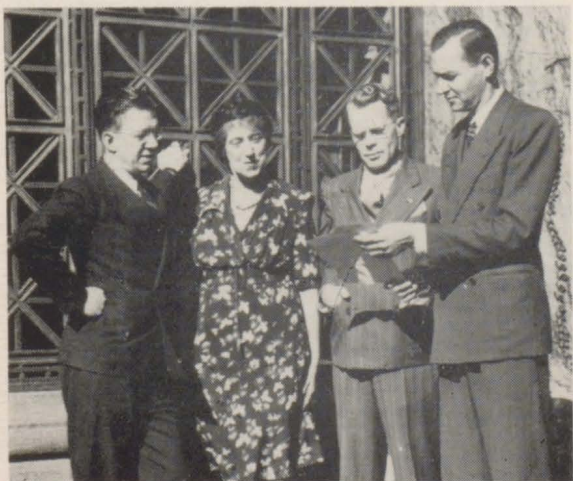

Betty Berggren and Patricia Johnson are the typists for this year's Quill. Bill Mellerup, the staff photographer, snaps most of the excellent pictures which make the Quill so interesting.

Since, in the past, students have seemed reluctant to part with recent snapshots of themselves, a plea was sent out this year for baby pictures. Now students may see their friends as they really were.

The "I Remember . . ." section is designed to give anyone who reads the Quill a clear idea of what East High offers in subjects ranging from Homemaking to Auto Mechanics.

Mr. Kenneth Stratton keeps an eagle eye on the editorial staff, while Miss Harriet Macy works with her art students making the fine Quill cover and division pages. Mr. Leslie Olsen is in charge of the business staff, and Mr. Charles Springate supervises the advertising staff.

This patient quartet is largely responsible for the success of the Quill.

Clerical Staff

There are a number of East High girls who surrender their study periods in order to work in the offices of Mr. Prichard, Miss Helmreich, Mr. Williams, Miss Hammer, and Mrs. Clark. These girls, who make up the clerical staff, are not only gaining valuable experience but are also doing a service for East High. Among the duties of the clerical staff are checking slips, answering the telephone, and incidentally, answering the many foolish questions asked by the students, carrying special announcements to the different classrooms, filing, typing, and even taking dictation.

Library Staff

The student rushes breathlessly into the library and asks for reference material on the French Revolution. Most likely the one who will find it will not be Miss Larson, the school librarian, but one of her assistants, a member of the library staff. Miss Larson chooses the staff from a list of applicants, and each member relinquishes his or her study period to do this work. Among the duties of the staff is finding reference material, checking out books, seeing that books are returned when due, shelving books, and reading the shelves.

The Scroll

"Find it in the Scroll!" This cry has become a byword with the students at East High school when someone wants complete information concerning a coming school activity. The Scroll is doing a fine job in presenting to its readers complete schedules of musical, dramatic, and athletic events, as well as human interest stories, good feature stories, and interesting editorials.

Few students realize just how much time and effort is put into an edition of the Scroll that takes them perhaps twenty or twenty-five minutes to read. But if they would drop into room 218 some day during fifth period, they might begin to appreciate the tremendous amount of work that goes into the making of the Scroll.

First, each page must be planned and laid out by the page editors. The next step is to decide upon the articles and pictures that are to be included and how much space each may occupy. The articles are then assigned to the staff reporters to be written. They are next turned over to the copy-readers who read and make the necessary corrections. After this, the articles are typed and finally the whole thing is rushed off to the printer.

The staff itself is composed of the Journalism II class, but there are many articles included in the Scroll which are written by Journalism I students. The editor-in-chief of the Scroll this semester is Norman Bacon, who is proving himself to be very capable in this responsible position.

Every school newspaper, to be really successful, should have capable faculty advisors. The Scroll is fortunate in having Mr. Kenneth Stratton as the editorial advisor; Mr. Leslie Olsen, who is doing a fine job in handling the affairs of the finance department; and Miss Harriet Macy, who is efficiently taking care of the art work.

This year, as last, copies of the Scroll are being sent to former East High boys who are now in the service.

Thespians

Real estate, history, the Gettysburg Address, San Juan Hill, and Cupid become entangled to make this a timely comedy, "Yankee Doodle American," presented November 17 and 18 in the East High auditorium.

The excellent cast, coached by Mrs. Juniata Caldwell Laser, includes Con Hamborg as the patriotic Uncle Wilbur Judson, Marilyn McLaughlin as Shirley Bradford, Jim Hedlund as Bill Sargent, Milli Hines as Gram, Don Weaver as Mr. Bradford, Ginger Norris as Mrs. Bradford, and Tommy Wolfe as Richie Bradford.

The play pointed out a pertinent fact: Few people really know U. S. History.

Behind the Scenes

Without them, there wouldn't be any costumes, assemblies, noon movies, public address system—almost no entertainment at all. You've guessed it. They're the wardrobe girls, stage hands, movie operators, and electricians, the unseen technicians who help to make our stage productions and movies possible.

These students are always on hand long before starting time to arrange the stage, shift chairs, set up the p. a. system, check the costumes, or have the movie ready to start on time.

Many thanks for keeping things going so smoothly in the auditorium.

Sousa

The East High Band, directed by Mr. John McWhirter, has long been one of the spark plugs of our school spirit.

Proving its versatility, the band can play at a football game and then put on a concert, changing easily from John Philip Sousa to Buchtel.

Russell Nolan is the student director.

Drum Majors

No football game would be complete without the flashing figures of the drum majors as they lead the band through its formation which they must know as well (almost) as Mr. McWhirter.

And that strut and twirling doesn't come naturally—it takes a lot of practice!

A Cappella Choir

The A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Miss Sigrid Greenhill, helps much in making East High the all-around school it is. During the year, the choir takes part in programs both in and out of school. The highlight is always the beautiful and impressive Nativity at Christmas time.

The choir, which usually contains the members of the glee clubs, is a polished organization, the result of many long hours of study and practice on the part of Miss Greenhill and her students.

Tschaikowsky

The orchestra, directed by Mr. John McWhirter, supplies some fine mood music for us long-hairs. For years, the most important duty of the orchestra has been to play at the senior exercises which include class night and commencement.

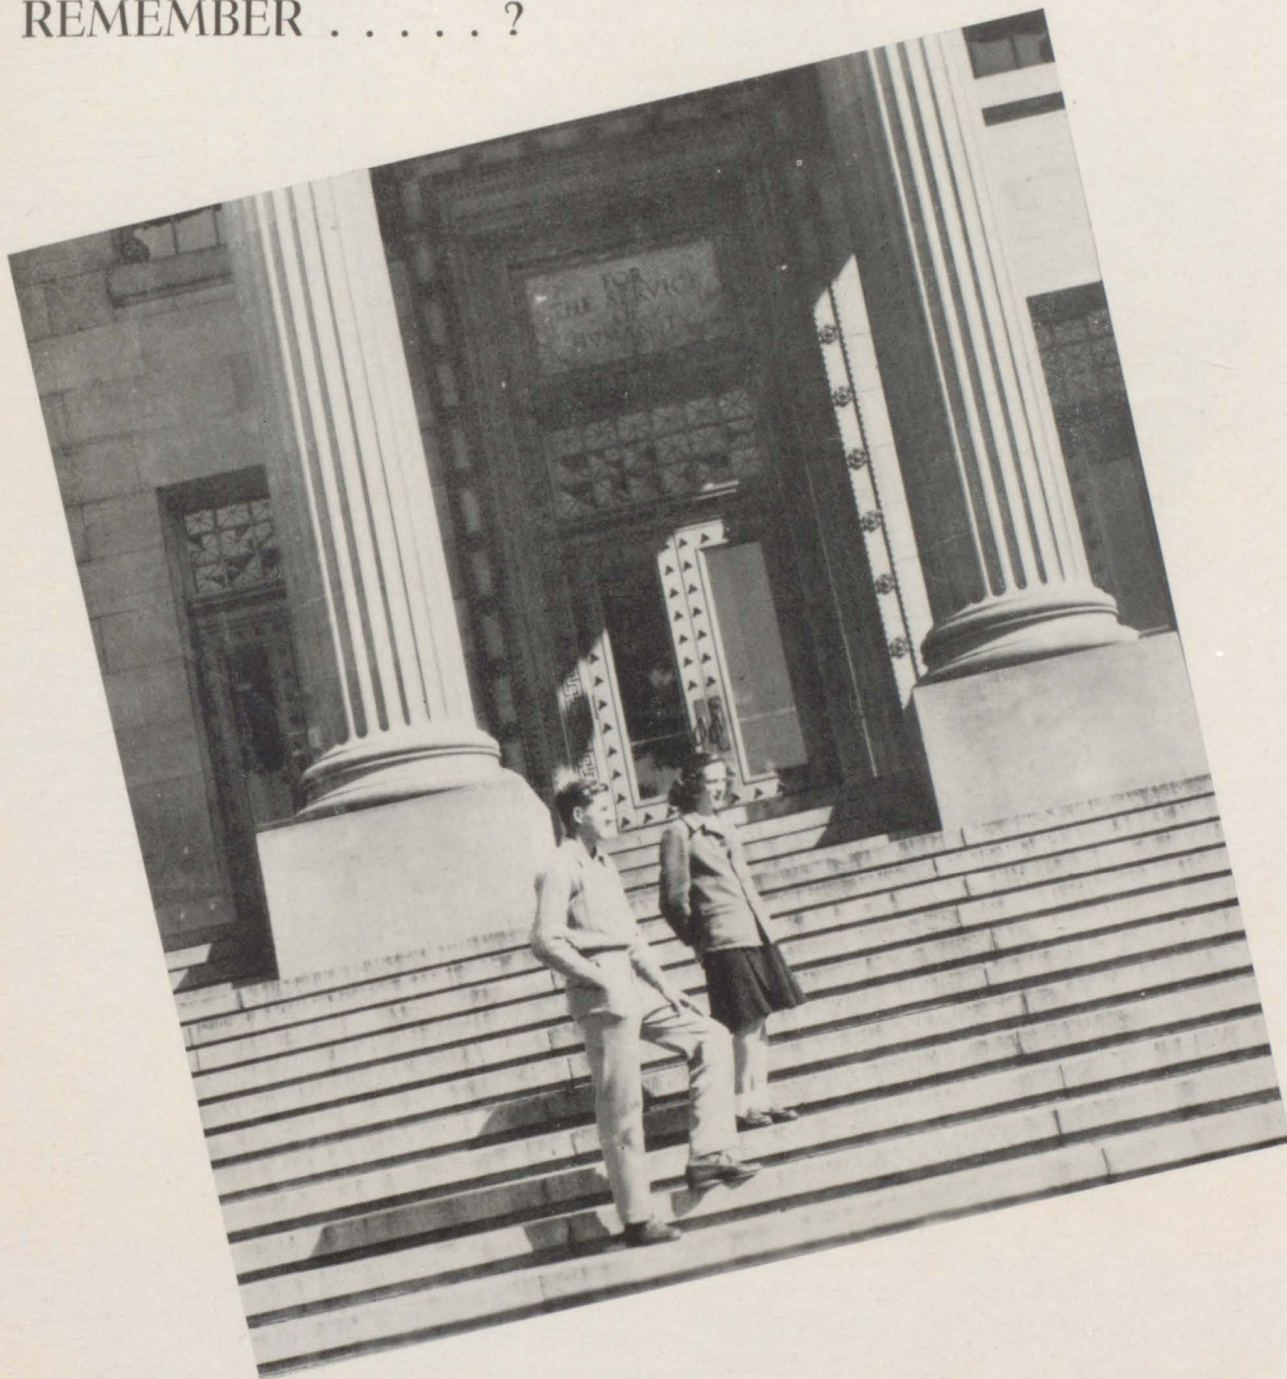

The orchestra always appears at the school play, performing between acts. In addition to the regular orchestra Mr. McWhirter also organizes small ensembles which play on various occasions.

"I'm very proud of my violins this semester," stated Mr. McWhirter.

REMEMBER ?

Remember when we first started to East High school? It seems such a short time ago. We climbed the many steps very slowly, gazing up at the great and inspiring motto over the door; the motto which was to guide our actions for the next three years: "For the Service of Humanity." We didn't know exactly what it meant that first day. We were to learn its meaning fully in the years to come. We were to become impregnated with the friendly, undying spirit of East High, invisible, yet as solid and long standing as the granite rocks of which the school itself is built. For many of us, these years were to be the most important ones of our lives. They would, perhaps, provide our last chance to coordinate everything that we had learned in elementary school into finished products.

Lockers

Do you have a "family skeleton" locked up in one of your closets? Whether you have or not, chances are that your corridor locker experience has been comparable to the following little episode.

We find that John or Mary Average-Person has finally succeeded in opening that stubborn lock and rather cautiously opens the locker door and steps quickly out of the way. Aha! Nothing fell out this time. But there's always that chance, you know.

Yes, in East High, lockers house not only students' coats, hats, gloves, galoshes, and miscellaneous other wraps—they also serve as "catch-alls" for whatever a student thinks he may want later but doesn't know where to keep it.

In addition to mirrors (on girls' lockers only) and "pin-up girls" or boys, one may find old test papers, notes, apple cores, paper sacks, gym clothes, milk bottles, half-eaten lunches, kleenex—and, oh yes!—lying forlornly somewhere in the bottom of this glorified garbage heap, one may discover a few text books.

How well we remember our poor, over-burdened corridor lockers!

Assemblies

A feeling of tenseness fills the air at East High this morning. Anxiously the students eye the clock. The occasion? One of East High's famous assemblies.

Perhaps this morning it is to be a spirited pep assembly, with the band and cheerleaders to spur the team on the victory. Possibly this assembly is of a more serious nature, a guest speaker or a commemorative event.

Highlight of the year's assemblies is the unique Alumni assembly in which former students return as guests of present day East High students. The main attraction of this assembly to pupils is, aside from good entertainment, its length; from two to three hours.

Industrial Arts

More and more we are coming to realize the fact that the ability to work with the hands is almost as important as the power to think clearly.

In order to provide ample opportunity for students to develop manual skills East High offers excellent training in its well-equipped wood shop and auto mechanics building.

In the wood shop various articles such as furniture, what-not stands, magazine racks, and numerous other items are turned out by the boys themselves. Naturally, it requires a considerable amount of time to complete a project as the boys can devote but an hour a day to this work.

A fascinating subject to boys is auto mechanics, which offers them the opportunity to really take automobiles apart and see what makes them tick. Any day, upon visiting the auto mechanics shop, one can see various automobiles in various stages of disrepair, being given a thorough going over by over-all-clad, grease-covered boys. Ample proof of the worth of this course is given by servicemen who express their appreciation for its value to them.

Commercial

Long before enrolling at East High I decided that life in the business world was the life for me. All too soon I was a victim of shorthand hysteria and typing psychoneurosis. Soon I was able to boast to my friends that I was one of the select few who could write shorthand—I didn't add, of course, that it took longer that way. Soon I discovered that I could type a satisfactory business letter and, in addition, untangle the columns and columns of receipts and expenditures I encountered in bookkeeping. I now realize that this training I have acquired will be of much value to me in preparation for my career of tomorrow.

English

Included with regular English classes in the English department, are the more specialized courses—Journalism, Drama, and Speech.

English is a basic course in any type of work. Whether one is studying history, mathematics, chemistry, or almost any other subject, it is not only necessary to read, but to assimilate and remember what has been read. One of the major purposes of the regular English course is to help the students acquire this ability.

To be of value, knowledge must be expressed. Although some training in oral expression is obtained in English classes, it is the special task of the course in Speech to train the student in this field. Journalism, on the other hand, supplements the regular English classes in written expression with emphasis on the journalistic type of writing. Dramatics seeks to develop skill in expression by the spoken word and bodily action.

Literature is a part of every semester's work in English. However, those who take the twelfth-grade course receive a background which, if developed and pursued, will be a source of satisfaction throughout life.

Social Studies

Certainly any East High student will better understand the problems that face us today after having taken three years of history: World History, which deals with man's progress from the Stone Age to the present; United States History showing the beginning and development of our own great nation; and lastly social studies, which prepares youth to share its responsibilities for the creation and maintenance of a better world.

Perhaps never so much as at the present time, has it been so vitally important for all of us to be able to understand and cope with the problems of the day; vital issues upon which may well depend the wealth and happiness of future generations.

We are living in troubled times in which a knowledge of what has gone before, coupled with an understanding of the present, will help us to emerge from the present chaos even stronger than before.

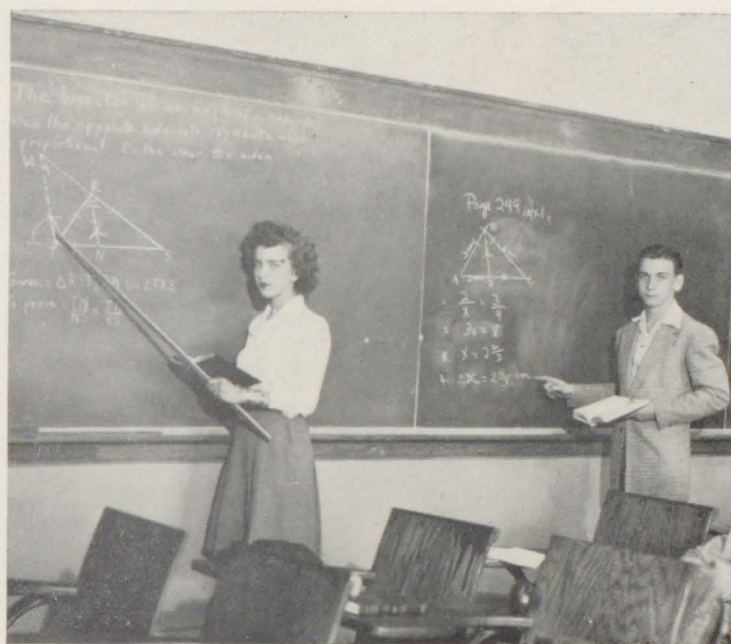

Mathematics

I arrived from Junior High, my mind brim-ful of algebraic equations and cross multiplication. Realizing that mathematics was vital to my future plans, I included in my program plane geometry which wasn't too much for me although I was bothered considerably by congruent triangles and Pythagorean theorem.

Matters became a trifle more complex when I continued with Math 5 and Math 6—advanced algebra and solid geometry to you non-conformists. Just as the names indicate, the equations and problems in advanced algebra were more difficult. In solid geometry, I learned to work with solid figures such as cylinders and spheres.

I applied all this background material in calculus, with its secants and logs, and finally Math 8 or Trig. At the same time I was continually learning new theorems, rules, and applications.

I am glad now that I continued with mathematics for I constantly found this instruction useful and often required in other of my studies. I am sure I will find that my mathematics will be of great value to me in the future, and, in addition, I have developed a clearer, impartial, more concise manner of thinking. This knowledge of mathematics and its appliance will be invaluable in our world of tomorrow.

Science

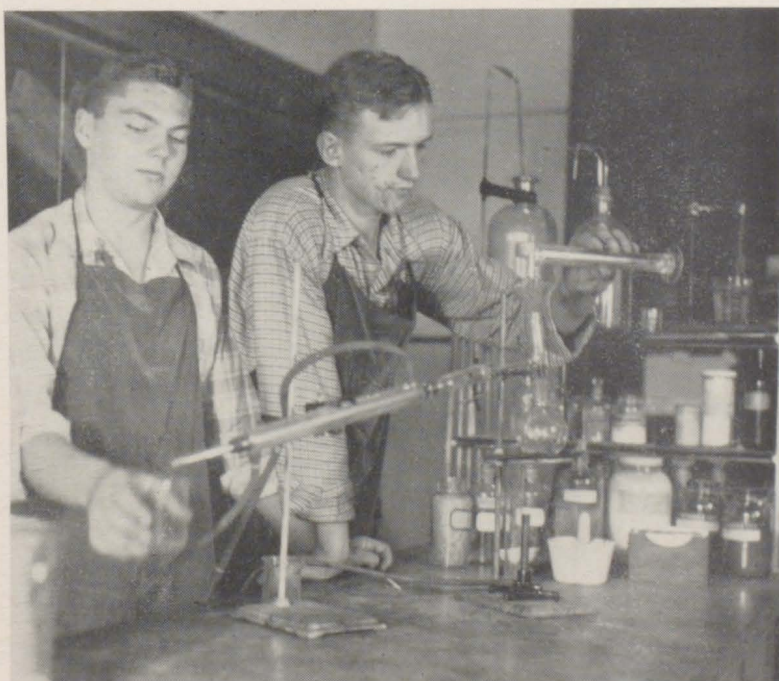

In the highly complex scientific world of today, science plays an important, if not a leading role. Realizing the need for trained scientists, East High offers three years of science preparatory to college.

Structure of matter; soil, effect of diets on animals, to mention only a few, are some of the very useful things learned by the biology student. He also learns use of the microscope and studies the parts of the body.

"The science which deals with those phenomena of inanimate matter," this is the dictionary definition of physics. Dealing with the closely related sciences of mechanics, heat, electricity, light, and sound, radiation and atomic structure, physics gives one a groundwork and understanding of several different fields of science.

Test tubes, ringstands, Bunsen burners; these are familiar sights to the chemistry students at East. Especially necessary for those who wish to study medicine, chemistry is also important to anyone in any field of business, as there is nothing around us that is not somehow related to chemistry.

There are golden opportunities in biology physics, and chemistry. The opportunities will be even greater in the new era approaching.

Lunch Hour

Food and Fun

A far-from-subdued chattering, clinking dishes, a long, unwieldy line; here we have a typical scene of that all-important period of the day—the lunch hour. Of all the names which might be given to this particular interval, perhaps "lunch-hour" is the most ill-fitting. Merely a fraction of that time is devoted to eating. After lunch has been hastily dispatched, most students rush off to club or noon-movie. A few remain to "study" for their next class.

Clubs

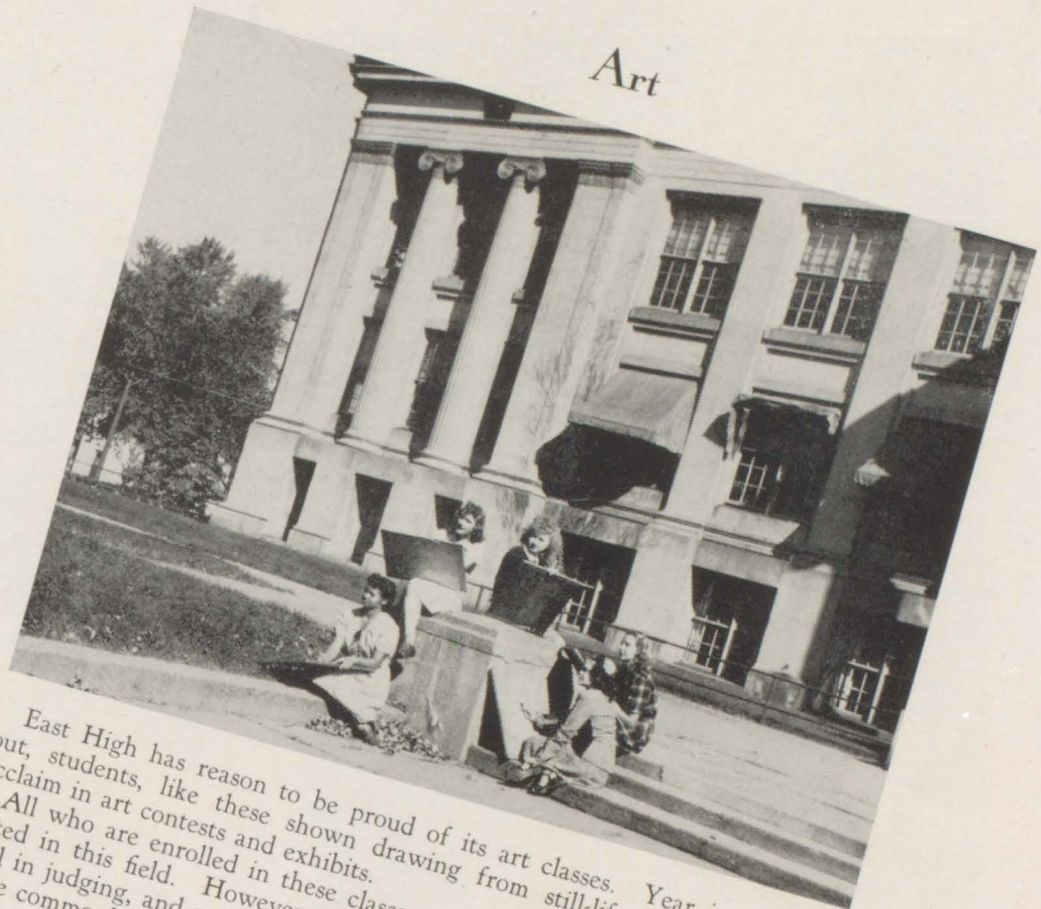

Among our cherished memories of East High, one remains uppermost—the pleasant and enjoyable friendship with our fellow students fostered by our membership in various clubs. Considered as a voluntary extra-curricular activity, membership in a club gives one an opportunity to become better acquainted with students and sponsors outside the classroom.

The numerous and varied interests presented in the many clubs is sure to appeal to one of a person's many interests. In addition to finding new friends, our membership in a club has developed our personality, character, and sense of cooperation. We also find that we have acquired that famous East High never-say-die spirit which we will carry with us always.

Art

FINE ARTS

East High has reason to be proud of its art classes. Year in and year out, students, like these shown drawing from still-life, win nation-wide acclaim in art contests and exhibits. All who are enrolled in these classes, of course, are not particularly talented in this field. However, they find that the course gives them more skill in judging, and greater appreciation of the great masters as well as the more commonly encountered work of commercial artists.

Music

The many, well-attended music groups of East High show that young people are inclined to cultivate not only the gift of song, but of instrumental music as well.

Furnishing an important background for the annual nativity pageant, is the A Cappella Choir which ranks at the top of the vocal groups and is composed of the most advanced students in the Girls' Glee Club and Boys' Glee Club. Students in band and orchestra have an opportunity to gain actual experience in instrumental group playing.

Music groups help to represent the spirit of East High. Like the athletes, members of music classes put in many extra hours outside of school to furnish enjoyment for the school or represent us in the community.

Physical Education

We seniors of January '45 are one of the many graduating classes confronted with the necessity of helping to win a war. It is certain that a large majority of us will enter into the service of our country, and the rest will take some war job. To do our part, we must be physically and bodily able. The training that we have received in physical education classes has prepared us for the rigorous life in wartime America. Each graduate is required to satisfactorily complete a physical education course. This training has not only produced our crack East High athletic teams, but has developed us both physically and mentally so that we are assured of success in our forthcoming venture.

Study Hall

Because it provides a chance for at least partial elimination of the ever-present home-work, study hall is considered beneficial by students and teachers alike.

Whether the hour is spent in arduous study, perhaps in preparation for an examination, in the large, well-equipped library, or merely recuperating from the preceding period, it is as essential to students as an hour in regular classes.

Although most students alternate study hall with gym (and poor Quill members devote their study hall time to working (?) on the Quill), the three days of study hall a week can go a long ways toward completing advance assignments and homework.

Football Games

Riding on packed buses, sitting in the crowded stands in the crisp fall air, feeling joy or depression as the team's fortunes rise and fall, East High students are always on hand in large numbers at every football game, lending hope and encouragement to their fighting team.

While much is written of the valorous exploits of the team, little is said of the faithful crowd who, rain or shine, attend every game. If football builds men, attending these games certainly builds school spirit.

Leading the crowd in the school yells and songs, the tireless cheerleaders are an essential part of every game, but no more so than East High's superb marching band, ably executing difficult maneuvers and providing excellent entertainment during the half. And, whether we win or lose, we always leave just a little prouder of our team and school.

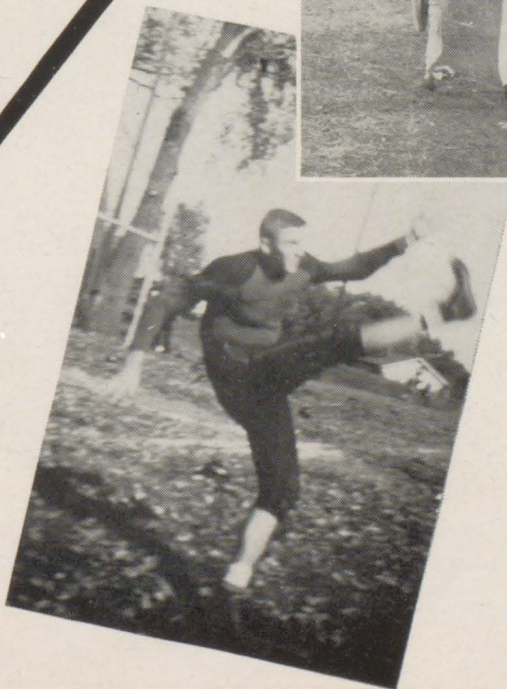

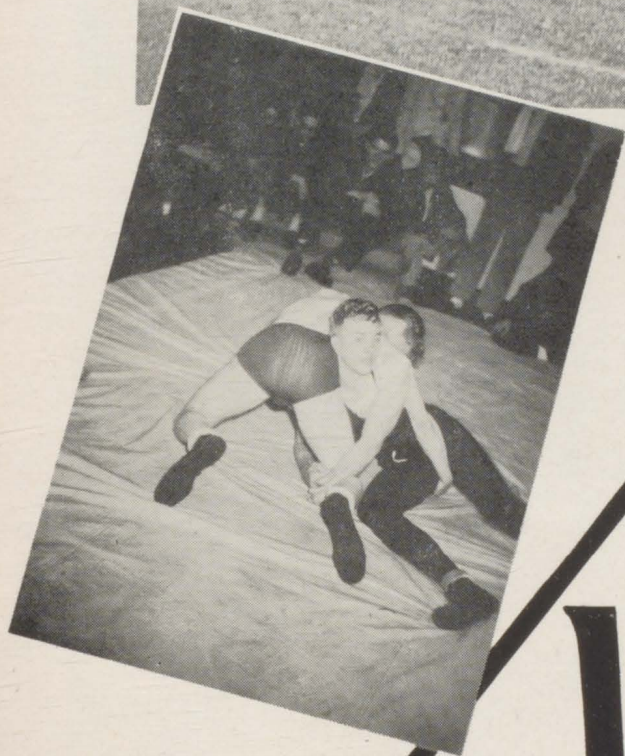

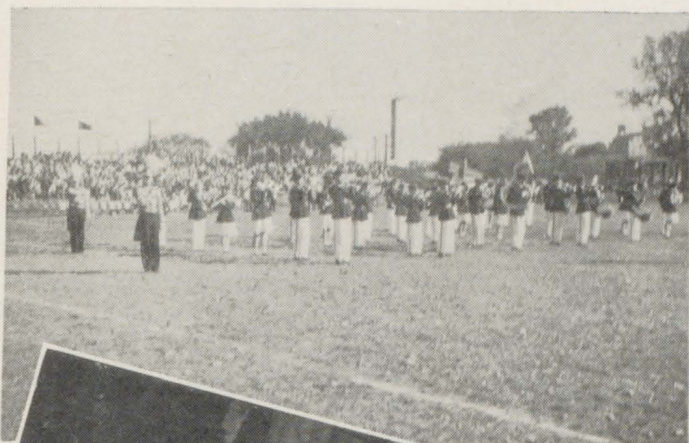

Leisure Hours

I will always remember those wonderful student get-togethers at the gym—the so-called Leisure Hours. Some people would wonder how a group of teen-agers could get so much fun out of dancing to a juke box or to a band composed of our own home talent. But have fun we did.

For relaxation of the more strenuous variety there was ping pong or other such games when we tired of dancing. In addition to providing such downright good entertainment, these Leisure Hours supplied opportunities for meeting old friends and new outside classes.

SCARLET WINS BIG SEVEN, CITY SERIES

A crowd of 16,500 saw the Scarlet and Black cinch a double title by coming out on top of the battle with North High by a score of 6-0.

Frank Hartle, East's blocking fullback, smashed 9 vital yards for the winning touchdown. This touchdown was set up by an irresistible surge from the Scarlet's own 23 yard line, which was brought about by brilliant line blocking and backfield running. After a Rook-to-De Van lateral, netting 12 yards, Williams plunged on for 5 more yards. Rook added 6 more yards to this which placed the ball on the 9 yard stripe. With only 1 minute and 17 seconds remaining, Hartle put forth a burst of energy to carry the ball 9 fruitful yards to the City and Big 7 championship. Supported by the best line and backfield in the state, the Big 7 and City Series victory was brought to the portals of East High. The team of 1944 will surely go down in history as one of the greatest teams East High has ever had.

East Surprises Fort Dodge 14-0

Tearing Fort Dodge's line apart, the Scarlet stunned a previously unbeaten Dodge team 14-0. This victory moved us into a tie for second place with Fort Dodge in the Big 7 Conference. Paul De Van ran 69 yards in the first quarter for the Scarlet's first tally. In the second quarter Rook, blasting off tackle continually, then sent Williams across from the 16 yard line for East's final touchdown. A punt blocked by Hartle resulted in an automatic safety counting for two more of East's points. Bolstered by one of the hardest charging lines Lee Township has ever had, and by a brilliant backfield, East High won this all-important Big 7 game.

East Takes Valley In Opener 19-7

In an amphibious battle with Valley at the latter's field, East racked up a 19-7 victory over the Tigers. A backfield sparked by Ralph Rook and Paul De Van carried the ball into Valley's territory which later resulted in a Scarlet touchdown. In the second quarter Rook raced 85 yards for East's second tally. Late in the fourth period, Valley made its lone score. An aggressive line combined with elusive backfield brought this victory to Lee Township.

East Rolls Over Oskaloosa 38-0

Taking to the air, East found little difficulty in rolling over Oskaloosa 38-0, in their third meeting. A pass from Rook to Sandin set up East's first tally. Later De Van uncorked his brilliant running to roll up two more touchdowns for the Scarlet and Black. Rook kicked the extra point. In the final quarter a team composed completely of reserves rolled up two touchdowns—one by Al Hackney, the other a pass from Hadley to Newton. The work of East's forward wall was very impressive in this conflict, that has been an annual affair for many years.

Lincoln Falls 28-0

East High's hard charging line and backfield had little trouble crushing a much lighter Lincoln team 28-0. The markers were made by Williams, De Van, Biederman, and Mai-gaard. This victory opened the City Series in fine style for the Scarlet and Black.

East Obliterates Mason City 32-14

Recovering after last week's defeat at the hands of East Waterloo, the Scarlet and Black released all their power in defeating Mason City. A fumble recovered by Salem set up a scoring drive by Paul De Van. A lateral from Rook to Williams added 6 more points to East High. Intercepting DiMarco's pass, Salem, a guard, raced 41 yards for a touchdown. At the opening of the fourth quarter De Van rambled for another score with Rook converting the extra point. In the final seconds of the game Rook raced around tackle and rambled 91 yards for the final score.

Scarlets Sink Teds' Hopes 31-17

The first touchdown originated when East High returned a Rider punt to the 35, and on the next play a pass from Rook to Williams made the first touchdown. The second quarter saw Williams score again. In this quarter the Teds made their lone touchdown. In the second half a Rook-to-Sandin pass counted for another tally. The final quarter saw the Scarlet push over two more touchdowns.

E. Waterloo 21, East 20

East High lost its first game in three starts at the Waterloo Stadium. At the half the Scarlet and Black were ahead 14-7. Coming back with renewed vigor after the half, East added six points by a pass from Rook to Williams. Recovering a loose ball in the end zone, Waterloo scored a vital 6 points. The ball split the uprights making the score 19-14. At the opening of the fourth quarter, the Trojans scored the tying touchdown. Waterloo then converted the all-important extra point defeating East High 21-20.

East 18 North 7

Not to be underrated by anyone, the Canaries captured the City Series title for the second squads of the city. The squad boasted of few injuries this season, having only two to speak of. The main cog of the team was a fast, heavy line and a strong backfield. Standouts of the year were Jim Formaro, Jack Overturff, and Howard Peters, half backs; Paul Erickson, quarter; Jack Grossnickle, fullback; Ralph Lucky, Marvin Smith, Bob Tung-land, guards; Bill Richard, Nelson Hall, tackles; Don Papian, George Hood, ends; and Dick Schneider, center. These boys will be valuable first-team material next year. The boys of the second team have a very important job, that of maintaining their schedule and acquainting the first team with the plays and formations of the teams they will play.

Wrestling

The men pictured here, under the direction of Coach Gregory, will participate in the coming meets. The boys begin training immediately after football. They train to equip themselves better physically by running a mile each night, and excluding fats and sweets from their diet. In participating in the sport, the boys learn different holds, quick thinking, and coordination of mind and body.

Cross Country

This year's cross country team has done well to uphold the success of past years. Running mile after mile each night reaps the reward of state champion teams. Howard Sloan was the standout in every meet. He placed first in every meet, winning the state one mile and two mile championship. The team as a whole won the State Cross Country mile and a dual meet with North, but fell short of winning the state two mile and also another dual meet with North.

Swimming

If one were passing the pool at night and heard noises echoing forth, it would not be fish, but our swimming team. These boys paddle endlessly from one end to the other until our coach Scotty Russell is satisfied. You know Scotty as well as the boys do. Hoot Mon! With the return of five lettermen, the season promises to be a good one.

Golf

Under the direction of Mr. Hostetter, East High's golf team brought the city title to Lee Township. The City Meet was held at Waveland Golf Course. Roosevelt, Lincoln, North and East all took part in this tournament. East High won due to a default by Roosevelt. The Red and Black is expected to have a good team next season with four lettermen returning.

Boys' Tennis

Although this sport gets into full swing after this Quill goes to press, we must not fail to mention our hard working tennis team.

The squad not being at full strength during the fall managed to place third in the City Tournament.

Girls' Tennis

We are fortunate to have in East an able tennis team and a pretty one. These girls are deserving of credit as they placed third in the city meet this fall. I'm sure that these pretty misses will come out in fine shape for the coming season.

Cheerleaders

Those boys who stand in the rain, snow and cold at all of the football games, giving us spirit and confidence in the boys on the field to win the game fairly, are the cheerleaders.

If you have seen a few friends of yours limping up and down the stairs, toward the first of the semester they were probably boys training diligently, faithfully and hard to be chosen for the squad. After training for two or three weeks try-outs are held.

Row 1: Dahl, Codner, Monk, Captain; Bacon.

Student Managers

These men pictured here are our Student Managers, sometimes called cage monkeys. They are the boys who are by the athlete's side in every game, furnishing towels, water, and what have you. They also work each night in the cage furnishing towels and keeping the practice clothes in order. The boys giving of their time without any return should greatly be lauded.

The G. A. A. is the backbone of girls' sports at East. The girls are able to win a G.A.A. monogram by getting a certain number of points. Points are given for participation in such things as tumbling, rope work, baseball outings, basketball, tennis, swimming, and golf. The director of Girls' Physical Education is Miss Spencer.

BASKETBALL

The sharpshooters participating in the winter cage schedule have had a highly successful season up to the time the Quill had to go to press. The boys on the squad spend the greater part of their leisure time in improving their shooting eye and rounding into tip-top shape over in the gym each night.

So far this season there have been few injuries, and the team is playing in full strength. With the return of 10 lettermen, prospects are bright for one of the best seasons in recent cage history.

We have already played three of our games this year and have the better part of our schedule yet to play. The score of our first game was 48-8 with West Tech on our own floor. Everyone played a fine game with Marvin Williams taking the scoring honors with ten points. Marty Carlson also played a fine defense game.
